ASTRO-MAPPING: INTRODUCTION

Astro-Mapping Overlays Your Chart on a Map of the World Using Various Methods and Techniques. This Overlay Instantly Identifies Geographical Hotspots and Specific Trending Areas Where these Planets Have a Greater Direct Influence on a Person When They Travel there Physically, Psychically, and Virtually Online.

The Two Primary Types of Lines Listed in this Report Include Planet/Angle, and Planet Direction/Paran lines.

PLANET/ANGLE LINES:

Describe Where on Earth Individual Planets or Stars are Culminating or Anticulminating (on the Midheaven and Imum Coeli) or are Rising or Setting (on the Ascendant or Descendant).

The Culminate/Anticulminate and MC/IC Lines are Always Lines of Longitude, Whereas the Rising/Setting and Asc/Dsc Lines are Great Circles Around the Globe and Appear to Curve on a Map.

ASTRO-MAPPING:
INTRODUCTION

PLANET DIRECTION
OR LOCAL SPACE LINES:

Indicate the Direction in Which Planets or Stars are Found When Looking from the Chart's Location. These Lines are Great Circles Around the Globe, Starting from the Chart's Location.

The Common Convention is to Continue the Line Right Around the World, Back to the Starting Location. When Viewed in Cartesian or Mercator Projection, These Lines Generally Appear to Curve.

Paran Lines are Lines of Latitude, Indicating Where Any Two Celestial Bodies are in an Angular Relationship that Coincides with the Angular Relationship Between the Meridian and Horizon at that Latitude.

For Example, If the Angle Between the Sun and Saturn is the Same as that Between the Meridian and the Horizon, for a Particular Latitude, Then there is a Paran Line for the Sun Culminating/Saturn Rising Along that Latitude.

MARS RISING:

If you lack self-assertion then this location is beneficial, however; if you are a self-driven and assertive individual then you would do well to avoid this line. The planet Mars highlights drive and ambition. Therefore this location encourages the fiery side of your nature. If you lack fire then you benefit from the lessons of this location. You will become more assertive and self-driven. This is ideal if you are looking forward to focussing on some of your own pursuits, which require the attributes of self-motivation and self-reliance. There will be a tendency to meet others head-on and the ability to rise to a challenge. You may also be surprised by forceful traits, which you never knew existed. On the other hand if you are a fiery individual then you could lack discretion in this location. You may find it difficult to restrain your impulses and therefore your rash actions could endanger your welfare. You may become aggressive and others may response in a hostile way. Whatever your personal tendencies you will are likely to benefit if you are involved in competitive sports or in a business project that requires courage and acumen. SUN RISING:

Moving to this location will greatly assist you achieving your personal goals and perhaps bring you the recognition and appreciation that you crave. If you want to take centre stage in your own life or to further your own goals then this is the location. This is particularly true if you have led a life devoted to other people or if you are shy. Here you will gain self-confidence and start making changes that are noticed by others. Whatever your personality traits you are likely to be more assertive and discover many truths about yourself. You may also be forced to become more self-reliant. As a result you are likely to benefit from self-development courses or study that furthers your personal objectives. In fact all the "self" words will come to the fore along this line including self-realization, self-actualization and self-orientation. Watch out for the "self" word though - self-centeredness. The attention may go to your head. You need to remember to be considerate of your loved ones and appreciate of those who help you achieve your dreams.

MERCURY RISING:

Communication skills will be highlighted along this line. Talking, writing, studying, networking, transport and reading are some of the forms of mental activity and communication that become part of your identity. If you have been quiet and retiring then now is the time to speak out and enjoy a new sense of confidence in your associations. If you are usually gregarious then you may either find this line over stimulating or enjoy new interests. You may enjoy studying a new hobby or joining a public speaking class. This is also an ideal line to follow if you are a writer, whether writing letters to friends and family or working on a written project or writing your insights in a journal. You have opportunities to become known for your ideas and intellectual skills. The connections that you make in this location could change the way that you think about yourself. Perhaps your friends and colleagues help you see a different side to your nature or perhaps one of your hobbies is seen in a different light. The only drawback to traveling to this location is that you find little time for silence. For this reason you may find it difficult to settle along this line. Nevertheless you enjoy the stimulation and excitement of learning new things and meeting new people while you are here.

RISING LINES (5)

MOON RISING:

Happiness is achievable when traversing this line. You have the chance to enjoy yourself in new and wondrous ways because moving along this line can bring a heightened sense of authenticity and understanding. On the positive side this encourages the caring, intuitive, and loving side of you to come more out into the open. This in turn attracts other people. You are sensitive to your environment in this location. Therefore you enjoy the sights, sounds and smells of nature. You may also enjoy outings with close friends and family members. The rewards in your personal life can be great. However, on the other hand your heightened sensitivity can prompt you to become too preoccupied with yourself. Over-sensitivity and introspection can weaken your resolve to assert your self and your own needs, or to consider other people's needs. Therefore if you are seeking inner reflection and emotional exploration in order to help you become more authentic and reach out to loved ones then this is the line for you. However, if you are likely to suffer from emotional sensitivity and acute awareness of other's needs to the detriment of yourself then you may be wiser to avoid this line.

VENUS RISING:

This is the ideal location for relaxing and enjoying the pleasurable things in life. Whether spending time with loved ones or spending time on your own, you seek enjoyment rather than hard work. Your appearance and the need to make yourself more attractive also become a focus along this line. You will want to pamper yourself with beauty treatments, enjoyable exercise, new fashions, and pleasure activities. Your contentment will show in your appearance. Moving along this line could encourage more social activity. You will be very aware of the company that you keep. For all of these reasons this is the ideal line for social engagements or a holiday. You need to be wary of people who may be a negative influence because they are more likely to lead you astray under the influence of this line. You would be well advised to surround yourself with creative and joyful friends, family and business associates. Of course you may also enjoy spending time on your own. Fun is the order of the day.

SATURN RISING:

If you want more responsibility and hard work then this is the line for you. If not then you would be best to avoid this location. This is an ideal line for anyone wanting to seriously pursue their own life goals. A career promotion, job re-training or starting a family can all fit the criteria bringing a great sense of achievement and other rewards. However, if you have reached a stage in your life where you simply want to relax and have some fun then you would do well to avoid locations along this line. You are likely to become more serious when you move along this line, perhaps even preferring to spend more time on your own and less time socializing. Others tend to leave you to your own devices. Alone you shoulder extra responsibilities. All of this can be positive if you are seeking to become less dependent on others, more self-reliant and hardworking. This is also a good line for reaping the rewards of a self-disciplined plan to achieving your personal ambitions.

CHIRON RISING:

A time of both pain and self-healing can occur when moving to this line. On the one hand you may experience a painful situation that triggers memories of childhood wounds. This may be a memory of a physical wound or of emotional hurts. On the other you may have the chance to heal a painful situation that has haunted you for some time? An important relationship in this location may offer a chance to rekindle the hopes and dreams that you have held close to your heart since childhood. The significance of this location is that traveling here gives you a chance to turn around your life, as long as you remain open to the possibilities. You will be asked to be honest and fearless in exchange for the opportunity to heal wounds from the past. Forgiveness of a loved one's actions or self-forgiveness, may feature strongly. Whatever the circumstances, moving to this line will help you come to a greater understanding of yourself, which in itself is a very healing experience.

NEPTUNE SETTING:

This location can induce an atmosphere of romance and idealism providing the ideal holiday location for a honeymoon or romantic holiday. However, any long-term travel here can prove troublesome. The problem is that the planet Neptune is linked with romance and idealism but not with truth and practicality. Therefore you could be subject to a sense of disillusionment, deception and confusion in. Either way your intimate relationship will not be all that it appears to be. It is not necessarily that anyone has set out to be deceptive, but a lack of clarity will pervade your relationships. Of course it is always possible that you will meet a spiritually significant partner along this line or perhaps move to this location with your spouse for a spiritual purpose. However, you need to be wary of romanticizing matters. You may also find that you or your partner has unrealistically high expectations of the relationship. The trouble is it will be difficult to discriminate between the illusion and reality. Take your time, enjoy the romance, and give any relationship plenty of time to run its course in daily practicalities. You would also be wise to avoid business partnerships or legal contracts along this line, as it is possible that they also are not all they appear to be.

HOW TO READ YOUR:

NORTH NODE SETTING:

Relationships are likely to change the course of your life when traveling or moving along this line. You may form one important and intimate relationship with someone who you feel sure you were destined to meet. Or perhaps a group of people or business contacts play a prominent role. Either way it is possible that you experience a moment of instant recognition when first encountering individuals or groups on this line. Associations are likely to be fulfilling and joyful, but you may also be required to relinquish a little of your individual self-expression in order to incorporate the relationship. In other words associations formed here can be so consuming that you need to give up some of your other interests. It is important that you aim to balance your own personal needs with the demands of important business or personal relationships.

URANUS SETTING:

Your marriage, unless it is a very unusual marital arrangement, will suffer sudden upheavals along this line. This is because you have such an urge for freedom in your personal relationships. If you are conservative then you will experience these unsettling sensations more strongly than if you are unorthodox. Nevertheless you are unlikely to feel settled in your marriage or business partnerships, unless they give you plenty of freedom. Moving along this line is more likely to encourage you to break free of the bonds of marriage and business partnerships. In fact any serious and steadfast union may be difficult to establish or maintain and may even cause problems in your other personal or business associations. Here you are seeking self-expression and unless your marriage or business partner is willing to give you plenty of liberty there will be problems. You can follow this line if you are seeking a non-traditional relationship that breaks the bonds of convention. However, it is likely that you will still view the partnership as secondary to your own explorations and excitement. In some cases, if you are not already in a committed relationship, you may meet someone new and exciting, but take your time before making a commitment.

PLUTO SETTING:

This is a powerful location for your most significant personal and business unions. If you are married, then your marriage changes when moving to this line. This can be positive if you and your partner are open to the challenge of transformation. An almost brutal honesty will be required to alter the areas of the relationship that have fallen into an outworn pattern. If you face the challenge then you are likely to experience a greater level of intimacy and commitment, gaining a greater understanding of each other and the nature of your relationship. You forge a strong bond. However, if either you or your spouse is unable to embrace the adjustments required your union may end. If you are single then it is possible that you will meet someone here who changes your life forever. Again this can be a rewarding experience or a painful one. Either way it is powerful. If you are not already in an intimate relationship, you may find yourself drawn into a dramatic and unusual one. Beware of attracting destructive partnerships. Business deals are also highlighted in this location. Trade agreements, business partnerships, and commercial contracts need to come under close scrutiny before you proceed. You need to make sure that you and your business associates fully understand the nature of the agreement before signing on the dotted line. You would also be wise to do a thorough check of potential partners background. The danger of traversing this line is that you are vulnerable to other people's lack of integrity. Therefore betrayal, either in your most personal unions or your business joint ventures, is a distinct possibility. However, the joy of traversing this line is that you could meet powerful allies who change the course of your life enriching it in ways you never dreamed possible.

SUN CULMINATE:

This is an ideal place for advancement in your professional goals. If you want to take the focus away from your private life and place it on achieving your career ambitions then this location is beneficial. Here you are able to make the right connections to move forward in your chosen profession or to achieve a lifetime ambition. Job applications and promotions, marketing efforts, business associates, and business meetings should all prove successful under the influence of the Sun on this line. You have the ability to really shine in the world. You can experience some drawbacks when moving along this line. For instance this location is not ideal if you want to settle down and start a family or if you want to spend more time with home and family unless this happens to be your major life ambition. You need to ensure that you keep your ambitions in check. You could be in for some disappointments if you are pursuing your ambitions to the exclusion of all else, or socializing only for the sake of self- advancement. However, if you maintain an appropriate balance in your life, you should be able focus on your goals and perhaps even achieve your life's purpose.

MARS CULMINATE:

Your ambition peeks along this line. If you seek more drive and purpose in your professional life then this is the line to follow, however; if you are wanting to spend more time in quiet reflection then you would do well to move elsewhere.

This location seems to bring out your personal drive for worldly success. You have more energy for pursuing your career goals. On a positive note you are able to achieve your goals and your leadership abilities coming to the fore. You are forced to take the initiative in your professional life. You may find yourself drawn to a more dynamic career, perhaps even a military one. You will meet career challenges head on with an air of self-confidence. This is a good location for discovering allies who can help further your career. However, Mars is the planet of war and moving along this line also has some drawbacks. You may attract more conflict in your public life. In your efforts to pursue your goals you may lack patience and understanding for others. You need to be wary of riding roughshod over colleagues, friends and loved ones. Otherwise there is a strong possibility of alienating potential allies and gaining your career ambitions at the expense of your personal needs. In some cases this line can also indicate meeting an influential male, perhaps a teacher, leader or colleague. Strong alliances can be formed when moving along this line.

You will find information of all kinds at your fingertips to help you in your professional life. Networking will play a key role in your success. It is vital that you keep the lines of communication open. Otherwise you could find yourself in a real muddle, tangled in other people's intrigues or with unworkable contracts. However, positive interactions and clear communication assist your professional status. Mental stimulation is also the name of the day. In fact you will be so busy you will have difficulty taking time out to slow down.

MOON CULMINATE:

You may feel a strange attraction to this location and anything associated with it. As a result this vicinity is likely to have an affect on your life's direction. Your heart will rule your head when traversing this line, particularly when it comes to making career decisions. This can have advantages if you are seeking new directions, and particularly if you have kept a strong rein on your emotions. Here you feel free to explore a more relaxed approach to making life decisions. It can also be beneficial if you are in a caring profession or a career, particularly one that demands a certain amount of sensitivity to public moods or trends. However, in some cases this location can also have strong negative connotations. For instance if you are attempting to forge a strong career path in one clear direction then you could experience some obstacles, particularly in the form of self-doubt. You may react emotionally in situations, which actually demand professional detachment. Your relationship with your parents and authority figures will be highlighted along this line. You are likely to be more sensitive to the role that these important people have in your life. You may seek recognition from parents and authority figures and become upset if approval is not forthcoming. On the other hand you may gain insight into the manner in which these people are holding you back. Your role in society may change here too. For instance you may take on a different career or decided to become a parent. There is a strong flavour of nurturing other people, either adults or children Therefore moving on this line is beneficial if you are in a caring profession, a caretaker role or considering becoming a parent, but is better avoided if your social status or career calls for cool, calm decision-making.

CULMINATE LINES (5)

VENUS CULMINATE:

Relationships with work colleagues, employers and employees gain momentum along this line. You will seek to form advantageous relationships to further your professional goals. Social contacts and your image will play an important role in advances in your professional life. If you form positive bonds with influential people, particularly women, then you are likely to be successful in furthering your status. Others will also view you in a positive light along this line. However, if your associations are unhappy ones then they are likely to cause trouble. This will largely depend on the nature of the planet Venus in your birth chart as well as the nature of your career. If you are seeking a profession in the fashion industry or in artistic fields then you are likely to be successful along this line despite the associations formed. However, if you are in politics then relationships play a much more important role. Pleasure will also become an important part of your life goals when you move along this line. Therefore this can be ideal for a holiday during which you intend to relax and reflect on your life direction.

SATURN CULMINATE:

If you wanting to achieve more in your career through hard work and attention to detail then this is place for you. However, if you wanting to shrug off your responsibilities and have a slower pace in life then you would be wise to avoid this location. Here you will find extra responsibilities and duties in your chosen profession. In fact your career will relentlessly demand hard work in order for you to achieve your ambitions. If you try to escape the requirements of long hours and attention to detail then you will find yourself living with the consequences. There is no escape. The good news is that your hard work pays off. Your efforts are recognized by those in authority in your profession, as well as by your colleagues. You are able to form worthy connections with influential people and respected colleagues. Your business investments pay good dividends, but only those made in solid, long-term business enterprises. This location is not conducive to overnight success in the business world. In some cases the extra responsibilities may come in the form of children. In other words you may become a parent or form a relationship with stepchildren along this line. If you shoulder your responsibilities then you are likely to see this line a playing a major positive role in your life. If, however; you feel overwhelmed by the burdens of your chosen profession then you would do well to move or to make serious career choices.

The Jupiter line is about being in the right place at the right time. Even if the situation presented does not seem beneficial to your status it will be. With the benefit of hindsight you will later see just how events or people encountered along this line have helped you achieve your goals and dreams. You will feel a sense of prosperity and success in your chosen profession. Promotions, beneficial contacts, opportunities to travel and study, will all be connected with your career along this line. For these reasons you will feel optimistic about your life direction. This is a beneficial line if you are a writer wanting to get published, or if you are wanting to promote your business, or to take a higher profile in your profession. You may even find your life taking a more spiritual or religious direction along this line. In some cases, you may find yourself stretched to the limit in your career. Again it is only with hindsight that you will see the benefits. The only drawback to traveling along this line is that you need to ensure that you do not become grandiose in your expectations of situations or people. The world is your oyster as long as you remain sincere, honest and down-to-earth.

NORTH NODE CULMINATE:

This is a significant location in your life's journey. You are destined to discover much about your profession and public status along this line. Whether you travel, move or simply study subjects or communicate with other people about the locations, this line plays an important role. You may discover hints of your life purpose when moving along this line. Alternately you may encounter individuals or groups of people who help you on your professional path. The connections that you make with other people or organizations are profound. You may have a feeling that you are reaping unforeseen rewards. Unexpected opportunities bring good fortune. On the other hand you may also be required to relinquish people or things from the past in order to move forward in your life. You can comfort yourself with the adage that "when one door shuts, another door opens". This is certainly true along this line where fate seems to be playing such a strong role.

URANUS CULMINATE:

If you are seeking excitement and change in your career then this is the line to traverse. However, if you were seeking a more conservative path then you would do well to avoid this location. Of course there are some exceptions; electricians and scientists can enjoy rewarding careers along this line. Anyone involved in technology or metaphysical careers may also prosper. Either way you can expect sudden changes in your professional life along this line. This could be a good line to follow if you are seeking more freedom of self-expression in your chosen profession. However, be wary of the urge to make reckless or rebellious decisions. This line could augur well for self-employment and contract work, but may prove more difficult if you are expected to toe the line in a traditional or hierarchical working environment. Your career benefits if you are working in an original environment that gives you plenty of freedom, but otherwise you would do well to seek a different location.

PLUTO CULMINATE:

Traversing the line changes the course of your life, and possibly those closest to you. The face that you present to the public, whether through your marital status or career, is irrevocably changed. This is a powerful location. In fact, here you will learn all about power - its use and abuse by yourself or by others. Therefore you could expect to be involved in battles with authority figures, or to be battling to place yourself in a position of power. You may not be aware of the impact that you have on other people along this line, or perhaps you are well aware of the power that you wield. Either way your life is changed irrevocably setting you in a new direction. Ideally you would like this direction to be one of success and abundance rather than a feeling of defeat. The challenge, therefore, along this line is to transform your life direction and/ or profession in a positive manner with integrity. Any gains in status that are made along this line will be subject to major upheaval if not carried out with the utmost integrity. It is vital that you employ the most positive of your leadership skills respecting both your own and other people's points of view. As a result you are able to transform your life, freeing yourself and others to enjoy success and abundance.

NEPTUNE CULMINATE:

If you are seeking a more spiritual or artistic direction to your life then this can be a good line to follow. This location lends itself to the softer and more creative side of your profession. Inspiration and beauty could feature more in your career when you move to this vicinity. Philanthropy may also be highlighted. Therefore this can be beneficial if you work in the fields of beauty therapy, charitable institutions, network marketing, alternative medicine or an unusual profession.

However, you need to beware of self-delusion or looking at your profession through rose-colored glasses. It is one thing to seek greater spiritual or creative fulfillment in your life, it is quite another to throw over everything for a pie-in-the-sky ideal, and this is the danger with this line. It is important to make sure that your powers of discrimination are not too clouded. If you were offered a promotion that requires relocating to this area then you would be wise to check the finer details and to visit the place first before making your final decision. You may also benefit from taking along a friend or colleague who is not under the same influence when traveling to this location.
